Visit to Stephens and Reagan. NEW YORK, Oct. 9 - The Herald's corres pondent gives an account of a recent visit to the rebel Vice President and Postmaster General, Alexander H Stephens and John H. Reagan, in Fort Warren, Boston Harbor. The former gentleman he found physically in the same emaciated state which has characterized him all his life, but with intellect improved, while the latter is robust and in excellent health. Both are cheer ful and hopeful and conversed freely on public affairs. Mr Stephens looks with interest on the present activity of prominent rebels in the work of reconstruction.

Judge Reagan has written and forwarded an adwithout delay, at rates of premium as low as consistent | dress to the people of Texas. He cheerfully accepts the results of the war, saying.
